Decision: New Business: TTC Transit Museum

At its meeting of February 21, 2017, the Board struck out the recommendation in the New Business item and approved the following action:

1. Given that the TTC is beginning work on its next 5 year corporate plan that staff include in that plan an evaluation, and possible implementation, of a TTC transit museum to coincide with the 100 year anniversary of the TTC and further request staff to consult with community stakeholders as plans develop.
2. That the Board request that the City's Chief Corporate Officer, General Manager, Economic Development and Culture, and staff of Heritage Toronto and Heritage Preservation Services, in consultation with TTC staff, consider the possibility of incorporating a TTC Museum or a transit heritage component as part of the current feasibility study for a City museum.
